Background and Overview of Advance Filing Rules on Maritime Container Cargo Information and Reporter ID

Scroll Down

Advance Filing Rules on Maritime Container Cargo
On March 30, 2012, a bill to partially amend the Customs Tariff Act and relevant laws passed the Diet, and this amendment enacted the Advance Filing Rules. The Rules require vessel operators and NVOCC to electronically submit to Customs information on maritime container cargoes to be loaded on a vessel intended for entry into a port in Japan, in principle, no later than 24 hours before departure of the vessel from a port of loading (hereinafter "Advance Filing"). The information on maritime container cargoes filed in Advance Filing Rules will be assessed by Japan Customs for a risk. Advance Notice of Risk Assessment Result from Japan Customs may be sent in principle within 24 hours from filing if the cargo is identified as high risk from the viewpoint of national security such as for terrorism in the risk assessment. When the filing is made 24 hours before loading of a cargo on a vessel regardless of the legal deadline of 24 hours before departure of the vessel, the Filers can receive an advance notice before loading of the cargo, if their cargo is identified as high risk, and stop loading the cargo on a vessel. Penal provisions under the Customs Act will apply if the filing is not made.

Filers
Those who are obliged to file cargo information under the Advance Filing Rules (hereinafter, "the Filers") are shipping companies who are contractors of carriage and own the cargo information based on Ocean (Master) B/L level at the time of departure of a vessel from a foreign port of loading intended for entry into a port in Japan. In addition, among the NVOCC, who own the cargo information based on House B/L level at the time of departure of a vessel from a foreign port, those who are direct contractors with the shipping companies are also the Filers.

Method of Filing
Under the Advance Filing Rules, the filing of cargo information must be made electronically through the Nippon Automated Cargo and Port Consolidated System (hereinafter, "NACCS"). This electronic filing requires access to a private network built in NACCS, which is not open to the Internet. In order to access the private network, the Filer must enter into a service agreement individually with Nippon Automated Cargo and Port Consolidated System, Inc. (hereinafter, "NACCS Center"). Meanwhile, for the implementation of the Advance Filing Rules, the Filers have been made it possible to make Advance Filing
